AFFLICTED WOMANHOOD.

A Deranged Nervous System is the Cause of Thousands of Unhappy, Suffer-ing Lives.

In the nincteenth century women with nerves are to be pitied, not sneered at, as of old. Medical science has taught us how real and terrible the suffering coming from nervous debility, how interse the unhappiness caused by sleeplessness, neuralgia, dyspepola, melancholia, exhaustion or vigoriess condition of mind and body. There is a sure specific for all these file; it has been tried by thousanis, and has cured them; it will cure you. Bead what a few of the sisterhood of the suffering have said. Be essured their words are genuine and heartfelt:

Mrs. Lulu Gleason, Onalaska, Wis.: "For ten years I have been the victim of nervous prostration and rervous dyspepsia. I have taken one box of Dr. Charcot's Kola Nervine Tablets, and have gained five pounds. That is nothing to the physical relief experienced. I sm better and happier than

He Was in Constant Dread of Ni-

Alexander, the late czar of Russia. no doubt furnishes one of the most striking examples in modern history of that trite saying, "Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown." His whole life was a succession of personal alarms, secret connivings, nihilistic plots and nihilistic attempts at assassination. Small wonder, then, if he sought relief in medicine, and as a health-restoring tonic for shattered nerves and haunted mind demanded stimulants. In saying this, let it be understood that the late czar was in no sense an inebriate. The stimulants which he sought were rather in the nature of a nerve builder, rather than a nerve destroyer, and though he tried one remedy after another it was years before he secured the right one. As a result of that discovery Alexander caused the following telegram to be sent to the branch house of JOHANN HOFF at St. Petersburg: Send immediately one case of JO-HANN HOFF'S MALT EX-TRACT to Sarskoje, Celo, by order of the czar. COUNT von SCHU-. WALOFF."

were all in court, and he was ready to proceed with the hearing.

Congressman Gibson of Tennessee, whose name figured in the article attacking the New York Congressman, and Lawyer John A. Clarke of this city represented the Tennessee correspondent. The latter announced that he was not ready for trial, and asked for a postponement.

To this the prosecuting officer objected. "Mr. Bartlett," he said, "is here from New York and is a member of Congress, and I think the case should be heard today."

Mr. Clarke said the fact that Mr. Bartlett is a member of Congress had nothing to do is a member of Congress had nothing to do with the question of postponing the case.
"I've just been retained in the case," he said, "and I don't care to be forced to trial said, "and I don't care to be forced to trial in this way. Certainly I want to make some inquiries about the case, and make the necessary preparation before going to trial." Mr. Bartlett, addressing the court, said that he appeared in court as a citizen and not as a member of Congress.

"This libel," he said, "was most malicious, and there can be no defense made to it. Mr. Rule admitted to me that he wrote the article, and that he wrote it in Washington. The object of the continuance is to get a Knoxville paper here to prove a retraction, but there can be no retraction." Counsel for the defendant insisted that he was entitled to a reasonable postponement. The court finally granted his motion, fixing Friday as the day for the hearing.

Driver Not to Blame. As a result of the coroner's inquest held yesterday afternoon over the remains of suddenly at her home in Baltimore Saturday night last.

Touching addresses were made by many of the members, and an exquisitely embroidered table cover, which the society had had made in India expressly for Mrs. Reilly, was shown. The intention was to present the cover to Mrs. Reilly at the meeting yesterday, in order to afford that lady an evidence of the love and esteem entertained for her by her associates in the society, but on account of her death the district secretary, Mrs. T. H. Martin, was authorized to present the token to Mrs. Reilley's daughters in Baltimore tomorrow. Others who took part in the business of the session were Mrs. S. M. Hartsock, Mrs. O. A. Brown, Mrs. L. H. Tilton, Mrs. S. M. Lake, Mrs. S. D. La Fetra, Miss Louise C. Wilson, Miss Lulu Walker, Miss Maria Baldwin, Miss Elizabeth Eldridge, Miss Turner, Mrs. D. Olin Leech, Mrs. T. H.
